EDITOR'S PREFACE.

It does not fall in my province other than to describe the arrangement of the genealogy which is, in its main features, that adopted by the Essex Institute in Salem; but modified somewhat to meet the exigences of the occasion.

Each name of a head of a family is preceded by his generation mark, an antique Roman numeral, followed by his individual number, by means of which his place in a former generation is readily found. The names in italics, enclosed within parentheses, show the line of descent from the first of the name.

The names of children are placed in brevier type and the families of daughters are usually brought in immediately succeeding the date of their birth, death and marriage. In some few cases where intermarriages have taken place, or where the persons married were of more than usual prominence, even though not having Osgood ancestry, it has been thought best to treat the daughters the same as male heads of families.

The heavy antique-faced numerals in the lists of children indicate that in the next generation, in the proper sequence, further information will be found.

The descendants of John, Christopher and William Osgood are treated as three separate families; the arrangement, however, being the same.

I have attempted, in the earlier generations, to add some facts concerning the parentage and ancestry of the noble women whose blood flows in the veins of the later generations, and with some measure of success.

The labor of preparing this work for the press has been an interesting one to me, the more so from the fact that the family has been one of prominence, and that my son can claim descent from two of the founders, a claim which I myself would be proud to be able to make.

INTRODUCTION.

With an earnest desire for the publication of an Osgood memorial, Mr. Isaac F. Osgood of North Andover, Mass., in the year 1888, sent invitations far and near for a family reunion, to be held on the sixth of June; on that morning about eighty of the family gathered in that old historic town, and a cordial invitation, which was gladly accepted, was extended the party to become the guests of Hon. and Mrs. Moses T. Stevens (Charlotte Osgood) at their beautiful residence on "Osgood Hill."

The exercises of the day were as follows: Hon. Geo. B. Loring was elected president, and Mr. Isaac F. Osgood, secretary for the day.

Dr. Loring delivered an able and interesting address on the Andover Osgoods, and their connection with the growth of the town.

Mrs. Isaac F. Osgood selected the hymn, "Remembrance of our Fathers," to be sung.

Prof. Howard Osgood followed with the result of his investigations into the derivation of the name of Osgood.

Mr. Alfred Osgood described in an interesting way the heraldic honors granted by James I of England, to Benjamin Osgood of London, who was doubtless one of our ancestors, although we have not been able to trace the lines between him and the three immigrants.

Mrs. A. H. Eddy, a granddaughter of Samuel Osgood, the first Postmaster General, then offered the following hymn, which all joined in singing to the tune of "Auld Lang Syne."

O dear old hills of Andover!
Beloved from childhood's day,
Where nestle still the lovely homes
Of dear ones passed away.

Your children gather from afar
To clasp each other's hands,
Warm with the same ancestral blood
They brought from other lands.

What memories gather round this spot,
Of all the great and good,
Who walked these woodland paths of yore,
And for the right have stood!

Their spirits haunt your shadowed nooks,
They meet with us to-day,
And welcome give and blessing leave
To cheer us on our way.

Short speeches by several of the family were succeeded by an announcement from the secretary that a memorial of the family, which the late Ira Osgood of Loudon, N. H., had spent the best part of his life in writing, could be purchased, and it was voted to purchase and place it in the hands of Hon. George B. Loring, Isaac F., Alfred and Howard L. Osgood, as a committee of publication. Nearly all present agreed to take copies of the book when completed.

The meeting closed with sincere thanks to the host and hostess for the conveyances furnished to interesting points during the day, for the bountiful collation, and for many acts of kindness which made the day one never to be forgotten by those present.

The work of the committee of publication is briefly stated as follows:

Mr. Isaac F. Osgood by earnest solicitation secured the necessary four hundred dollars to purchase the manuscript, which was received from the family of Ira Osgood and placed by Dr. Loring in the hands of an expert for conversion into printers' copy. This proved to be a more expensive and time-consuming operation than was at first anticipated. While this work was going on, Dr. Loring was called to his final rest. (His brother, John A. Loring, Esq., has since kindly furnished assistance at various times to complete the work.) At the request of the committee, the printers' copy was then taken in charge by the writer, a son of Alfred Osgood (one of the committee), and the work of securing subscriptions sufficient to cover expense of publication was undertaken. This has proved a slow and almost unsuccessful task, but at last, it is accomplished.

To detail the many and vexatious delays in completing the work would be neither profitable nor pleasant reading, but let us all be thankful at last to get our copies, as several previous attempts to publish have failed.

At the urgent request of many of the family, I have added a large amount of recent material, which has been voluntarily sent me, and trust that the reader will be lenient in criticism both as regards the compiler's work and my own.

DESCRIPTION OF THE COAT OF ARMS.

In a book entitled "Guillim's Complete System of Heraldry," in all its parts, published 1728, may be found the description of the "Coat of Arms," as shown in the frontispiece, which reads thus: Benjamin Osgood, Esq., one of the captains of the Blue Regiments of trained bands in the city of London, bears: Argent, three garbs, in a double tressure, flory counter-flory, Gules; on a helmet suitable to the degree of an esquire, mantled gules, doubled Argent, a torce Argent and gules, thereon a Demi Lion rampant proper, supporting a garb gules.

It is further stated in the aforesaid book that these "arms" were granted to Benjamin, by King James Stuart, First, of England and Scotland, as a coat of augmentation and concession, as displayed in the border (flory, counter-flory), being a part of the Arms of Scotland, which concession was only given in cases of military merit.

This episode in the Osgood family, it appears to the writer, is as worthy of commemoration as any event recorded in this memorial and is given for that reason.

Alfred Osgood.

THE DERIVATION OF THE NAME OF OSGOOD.

BY HOWARD L. OSGOOD, ESQ.

THE name "Osgood" is of Saxon or Norse origin and in derivation may perhaps be compared with Osbert, Osmund, etc., the syllable "Os" meaning, in Anglo Saxon, "God," e. g., Osbert, as handsome as a god. The last syllable I am not sure of, unless it may mean what it does now, and the whole name signify, as good as a god; it may be "Ostgod," good host. The name was not an uncommon one before the Norman Conquest; e. g., it is said that "Hardicanute died as he stood at his drink in the house of Osgod Clapa at Lambeth," at a marriage feast there in 1042. (Green, Shorter History of the English People, p. 97.) "Two Saxon monks, Osgod and Alrik, deputed by the abbot of Waltham, demanded and obtained permission to transport the remains of their benefactor (Harold) to their church," after the battle of Hastings in which William the Conqueror obtained his decisive victory in 1066. (Thierry's Norman Conquest, I, 178, Bohn's Ed.) The name is found in several forms: Osgod, Osgot, latinized Osgotus, Osegod, Ossgood and Osgood. A number of Osgoods are mentioned in Domesday Book as holding lands in a number of counties, and in Wiltshire, Osgot was a "tenant in capite," that is, he held his lands direct from the King and was probably a person of some consequence.

From this time on, the family is found mostly in Hampshire and Wiltshire. In 1295 Robertus Osegod was returned a burgess from Chippenham in Wilts.

Mr. Osgood Field has also communicated to me the following additional information: "The Osgoods for a century or two before the emigration of John Osgood belonged to the yeomanry (i. e., farmers), a class which has been called 'the backbone of England,' but it is one which did not make much noise in the world and the history and deeds of its individual members are not often recorded in the annals of the time. I have found a few early notices of the family, which do not appear in my contributions to the magazine. The Osgot of Wiltshire, who is mentioned in Domesday as a 'tenant in capite,' is named as one of the 'King's Thanes.' (Among the Anglo-Saxons, this word means a person of dignity, a great landed proprietor.) The following is the reference to him, 'Osgot tenet dimidiam hidam in Scaldeburne,' etc. He was probably one of the Saxons who made his peace with the Conqueror and was confirmed in his possessions. Osgod, one of the monks of Waltham Abbey, assisted in finding the body of Harold, after the battle of Hastings. The 'Domesday of St. Paul,' in 1222, published by Camden Society, under the head of Drayton, mentions Osgod 'nepos,' who had house and lands there and Walter Osegod, who formerly was a tenant at Drayton. William Osegod, vicar of Bromyard, resigned that living the day after Michaelmas 1287. The 'Rotuli Hundredorum,' temp. Edward I, names John Osegod of Essex, William Osegod of Glostershire, Gilbert Osegot of Canterbury, John Osegot of Norfolk. . . . . From the frequency of the name at the time of the Conquest, when names were not hereditary, I inferred that the word had some meaning and wrote to Professor Skeat, our greatest authority on such a question, enquiring if this were so. I enclose an extract from his letter in reply. . . . Professor Skeat writes: 'My difficulty is rather with the latter than the former part of the word, as will appear (pronounced as os in host). The prefix Os means divine. It is Anglo Saxon. The Norse or Icelandic form is As (pronounced exactly as house, if the h be omitted). It is not very common in Anglo Saxon except in the names Osmund, divine protection, or divine protector; Oswald, divine power; Osurg (Oswy), divine war; Oslaf, divine relic; but the corresponding Icelandic As is very common in the sense of a "god." The plural was Æsir (pronounced nearly as eye-sere), which was the common name for "the gods," i. e., Woden, Thor, etc. When used alone it means Thor. These divinities dwelt in Asgard, the divine yard or enclosure. You will find this in almost any encyclopædia that gives an account of the "Edda," or of Northern Mythology. See, for example, æsir in glossary to Bohn's edition of Mallett's Northern Antiquities, or see as in Cleasby & Vigfurson's Icelandic Dictionary. The long a or o is due to loss of n. The full form is ans, which occurs in proper names in old High German; thus, Anshelm, divine helmet or protection, not improbably the same as our Anselm; only if so, then the name Anselm was a Norman importation from the Franks, and not an Anglo Saxon name. The Anglo Saxon name would be Oshelm, but I never saw it. As it stands, Osgod (modern Osgood) can only mean "divinely good;" but I am not so sure that is right. The second part of such names ought to be a substantive. If you drop the second accent, it becomes Osgod, divinely god, which is tautology, and would not give the modern good. It seems to me most likely that Osgod was not a real Anglo Saxon name, but an Anglo Saxon adaptation of the Norse name Asgautr (in which the r merely marks the nominative case) and which would be latinized as Osgotus, the very form which you cite. Taking it then to be the Icelandic Asgautr, unluckily the sense of that word is not well known. Gautr is (in the Edda) a poetical name for Odin (our Woden); it seems to mean "father." This brings me to "divine father," or "divine hero," either of which will do; and they come to much the same thing.

Another theory makes gautr, keeper, warden, from Icelandic goeta, to keep guard. This gives "divine warden;" not much removed from the foregoing. When we put Osgod and Osgot side by side, we know, as a matter of course, that the form ending in t is the original and that ending in d the later; this is safe inference when such parallel forms occur in the same language; or in languages related in the way in which Anglo Saxon and Icelandic are.'"

FIRST GENERATION.

I. John Osgood of Andover, Essex County, Massachusetts, was born in the parish of Wherwell, Hampshire, England, 23 July, 1595; died in Andover, 24 October, 1651. He married in England, about 1627, Sarah, who died 8 April, 1667.

Children:

2 SARAH, b. in England, 1629 (?); m. 1 June, 1648, John Clements, of Haverhill. Ch. Rebecca. John Clements was of Haverhill 1645, perhaps at Marblehead 1651, representative 1654, died by shipwreck on a voyage to England soon after. He was one of the overseers of John Osgood's will and Rebecca was mentioned therein. He was also uncle of John Osgood juniors' wife.

3 JOHN, b. in England, prob. 1630.

4 MARY, b. in England, 1633 (?); m. Henry Ingalls.

5 ELIZABETH, b. in England, 1635–6, bapt. Wherwell, 14 October, 1636; m. 12 or 18 October, 1653, John Brown of Reading. Had five daughters and d. 31 July, 1673. He d. 1717, aged 81. He was freeman 1679, captain of militia, rep. 1679–80, 82–3.

6 STEPHEN, b. in Ipswich or Newbury, 1638.

7 HANNAH, b. in Andover, 1644; m. 21 May, 1660, Samuel, son of Samuel and Susanna Archer, who went from Salem to Andover. He was freeman 1668.

JOHN OSGOOD upon his arrival in New England, which was undoubtedly in 1638, sojourned at Ipswich but shortly after chose Newbury as the place of his residence. There he remained until his removal and settlement at Andover which occurred in or just previous to 1645. That he had early determined to remove from Newbury, which in the view of the inhabitants, was already overcrowded, is shown by the fact that he was one of the petitioners for, and chairman of the committee to obtain a settlement at Winnacunnet, now Hampton, N. H. This was in 1638.

In September, 1644, an attempt was made to form a church at Andover the meeting being held at Rowley, as there were not sufficient accommodations at Andover, but on account of a technicality the organization was not effected until 24 October, 1645. The names of the first ten members, freeholders (as required by law to constitute a church), were, Mr. John Woodbridge,[1] teacher, John Osgood, Robert Barnard, John Frye, Nicholas Holt, Richard Barker, Joseph Parker, Nathan Parker, Richard Blake, Edmund Faulkner; given in the order of their signing.

23 Nov. 1650. John Osgood, Senior of Andover sells to George Little of Newbury, all his rights in the pasturage belonging to a house he owned there and which he had formerly sold to John Pike of Newbury. This deed was not put on record until 28 Jan., 1701.

In 1651, Andover sent its first representative to the General Court in the person of John Osgood. His sickness and death prevented his attending any but the May session.

Evidently he was a man useful to the community and honored by his townsmen.

From the investigations in England conducted by Osgood Field, Esq., the results of which, as far as they relate to the American families, he published in the New England Historical and Genealogical Register for 1866, the following brief account of the ancestry of John Osgood is taken. Mr. Field found the name established in several counties at the time of the Domesday survey (1086) particularly in Wiltshire and Hampshire. In the year 1295, Robertus Osgood was returned a burgess for Chippenham.

At the Registry at Winchester, the following names of persons whose estates were there settled appear on the calendar, which dates from 1530.

[1] His wife was Mercy, daughter of Gov. Thomas Dudley.

Peter of Wallop, 1534.
Peter of Nether Wallop, 1534.
Richard of Wallop, 1543.
Robert of Ibsley, 1567.
William of Nether Wallop, 1582.
Peter of Over Wallop, 1585.
Henry of Over Wallop, 1591.
Margaret of Nether Wallop, 1595.
Richard of Upper Wallop, 1607.
William of Fordingbridge, 1614.
Richard of Shipton, 1626.
Robert of Wherwell, 1630.
Peter of Romsey, 1639.

The wills of those italicized, can be seen at the Registry. The subsidy rolls give the following information:

Richard Osgood of Over Wallop, 1522.
Peter of Nether Wallop, 1522.
Henry of Upper and William of Nether Wallop, 1570.
Robert of Wherwell, 1596.
Robert of Wherwell, Peter of Romsey, and Henry of Upper Wallop, 1620.
William of Shipton, 1628.

Mr. Field says "probably Peter Osgood of Nether Wallop, who was assessed in 1522, and whose will was proved in 1534, was the father or grandfather, of Peter Osgood, whose will, dated 10 January, 1585–6, was proved 21 February, of the same year." He was buried 26 January, 1585–6.

The second Peter Osgood left a widow, Elizabeth, sons Robert (of whom more below) Richard, John and Peter, under age in 1586; daughters, Margaret and Elizabeth. The widow was buried 30 July, 1598.

Robert Osgood, the son of Peter above, was of Wherwell, a parish adjoining the Wallops. His will dated 25 August, was proved 17 November, 1630. In this instrument he styles himself of Cottingworth, in the parish of Wherwell. Cottingworth is a large farm of about 360 acres and formerly belonged to the Osgoods, and the house, their ancient residence, was standing in 1866.

Robert Osgood mentions in his will, wife Joan, youngest daughter Dorcas, unmarried, daughter Mary, son Robert. To Edward Abbott and Elizabeth, wife of John Bartlett, such substantial gifts as to give reason for the belief that Abbott and Bartlett were sons-in-law. The Abbotts were afterward a prominent and numerous family of Andover, Mass. His son Stephen Osgood, to be executor Among the list of debtors is a John Osgood, doubtless a son, and who had previously had his portion of the estate.

The earliest parish registor of Wherwell dates from 1634. On November 14, 1636, the baptism of Elizabeth, daughter of John and Sarah Osgood, is recorded. But the name Osgood does not again appear on the Wherwell register for above fifty years.

The John Osgoods above mentioned are doubtless the same person and the following letter in all probabilities refers to his business.

"In her Majesty's State paper office is the following document, written by Dr. Stanley, who was at that time head master of the famous school at Winchester."

'Noble Sir

I am earnestly solicited by John Osgood, "to write unto you again about this intended journey to New England, that he may have the liberty to goe. I told Him I had written the last weeke, but that could not satisfy Him because He could not be sure that Letter was Delivered or that the way would be open to him" I desire you, therefore, that you would be pleased, if you have not done it already, to take order that He may passe as He intended; because I would by noe means hinder him in his journey though it may be He could be his best friend that should doe it. I take my leave and rest.

Your Servant to dispose of Edward Stanley'

'March 23 d. 1637.[1]

'Your sonne is very well.

Ye bearer of this letter will, as I am told, pay any monys, that shall be due in His business'

'Superscribed

"To my Honourable friend Mr. Nicholas[2] one of y^e clerks of Ye Counseyl in King's Street Near y^e axe yard in Westminster

Endorsed.

'R. 3. d. Aprilis, 1638. Mr. Dr. Stanley School Master at Winton[3] for a passe for Jo: Osgood.

Mr. Field goes on to say, "Shortly after the above letter was received by Nichols, the ship Confidence sailed from Southampton for New England, and the following names occur in the list of her passengers,[4] dated 14th of April 1638.—Sarah Osgood of Herrell [Wherwell] spinster and four children together with William Osgood and William Jones, both children under 11 years of age, and Margery Packe, servant."

"This Sarah was undoubtedly the wife of John Osgood; but why she is called spinster[5] in the list of passengers is not easily explained. Possibly it is a clerical error, or her husband may have been a subsidy man, and consequently obliged to resort to some deceit to enable him and his family to secure passages. Such practices were not uncommon at that period."

"We next find John Osgood's name among the persons who were admitted freeman in Massachusetts on the 23d of May 1639. Soon after he settled in Andover, which place was so named by its first inhabitants from and of the principal towns in Hampshire, in the vicinity of which lie the two Wallops and Wherwell. The last named parish being less than 4 miles distant from it."

There is no warrant for assuming that there was any near "consanguinity of blood" between these three early Osgood Emigrants to New England. John Osgood was from Wherwell in the County of Hampshire, England; Christopher Os-

JOHN OSGOOD lived in Andover in the house his father left him and where the first recorded town meeting was held in March, 1656. He was captain of militia, often selectman, representative in 1668-9, '89 and '90, and, as he had been imprisoned[4] for nine or ten days by Sir Edmund Andros without warrant, during the opposition to his imposition of taxes in August or September, 1687, John Osgood was very popular among the townspeople of Andover. Militia sergeant,[1] 1658, '61; lieutenant, 1666, '75, '77, '80; captain, 1683; innholder, 1689; selectman, 1670, '71, '72, '73, '76, '77, '80, '81, '82.

Mary Clements, wife of John Osgood (2) was the daughter of Rev. (?) Robert Clements of Haverhill, who, it is said, came from London in 1642, bringing many children with him; he was representative from 1647 to 1653, and died 27 Sept., 1658. The brother of Robert Clements, John of Haverhill, 1645, married Sarah, sister of the above John Osgood, i. e., brother and sister married respectively niece and uncle. In the deposition of Mary (Clements) she says that she had formerly lived in "the city of Coventry in Warwickshire, Old England," and boarded in the same house with a granddaughter of a former mayor of that city. She was one of the unfortunate persons suspected of witchcraft in the great delusion of 1692. Some girls in Salem Village, now Danvers, were supposed to have the power of detecting witches, and as the wife of Joseph Ballard, of Andover, was taken sick at this time, he was induced by his friends to send for two of these persons, that they might indicate who had bewitched her. The two supposed witch-finders, who were called "afflicted persons," were taken to the Andover meeting house, and after Mr. Barnard, the minister, had offered prayer, many persons present were blindfolded and their hands were placed upon these "afflicted persons," who fell into fits whenever a witch touched them. Mary Osgood and a number of others were accused as the result of this. Mr. Dudley Bradstreet, as justice of the peace, granted a warrant for her arrest and she was soon taken over to Salem, where she was examined on the eighth of September, 1692, before John Hawthorne, "and other Majestie's Justices." She then confessed that she was a witch, had been one for about eleven years and had afflicted several persons. "Her husband being "present was asked if he judged his wife to be any discom-

"posed. He answered, that having lived with her so long, "he doth not judge her to be any ways discomposed, but has "cause to believe what she has said is true." At least so say the minutes of this examination. Thereupon she, with a number of other Andover people, was indicted in January, 1693, by the grand jury and William Stoughton and his associate justices. Before this, on 16 October, 1692, she recanted before Increase Mather, saying that she was frightened and brow-beaten by the examiners into making her confession. After about four months' imprisonment at Salem, she with four others, was released upon the petition of Mr. Dudley Bradstreet and a number of other Andover people, who had come to a better state of mind. Her indictment is found in I Mass. Historical Collections VII, 241. See also Hutchinson II, 31, and R. Calef's, "More wonders of the invisible world," published in "Salem Witchcraft," by S. P. Fowler, Salem, 1861.

His death is said to have been hastened by his grief at these sad occurrences.[1]

II. 4 Mary Osgood (John), born in England, probably in 1633; died in Andover, 16 December, 1686, married there 6 July, 1653, by Mr. Simon Bradstreet, Henry, son of Edmund and Ann Ingalls, born in England about 1627. Freeman 1673. Died 1719.

Edmund Ingalls, the father of Henry, is said to have come from Lincolnshire. He settled in Lynn in 1629.

Henry Ingalls married, second, 1 August, 1689, Sarah (Farnum) widow of George Abbott of Andover. She died in 1728, aged ninety years. They had no children.

The will of Henry Ingalls, dated 5 July, 1714, proved 16 February, 1718, divides over 100 acres among children Samuel, Henry, John, James who is to have the homestead and is to care for the widow, Josiah, Sarah, son-in-law Joseph Stevens and Stephen.

28 Jeremiah, b. 16 Jan., 1689; d. 7[1] April, 1689.
29 Jeremiah, b. 11 July, 1691; d. 1737.
30 Daniel, b. 19 Jan., 1693; d. non compos, 1754; m. 23 June, 1724, Sarah Ingalls. He left no issue. His property was divided, 1750, among his brothers, John, Ebenezer, Nathaniel and sister Hannah of Andover.
31 William, b. 16 Feb., 1697; d. 20 Sept., 1791.
32 Hannah, b. 24 June, 1699; m. Theodore Barnard.
33 Benjamin, b. 28 Aug., 1700; d. young.
34 Samuel, b. 8 July, 1704; d. young.
35 Josiah, b. 13 July, 1706; d. 20 Oct., 1780.

John Osgood was a man of prominence in Andover, freeman 18 April, 1691, often selectman, 1685, '86, '87, '88, '89, '93, '94, '97; lieutenant of militia; surveyor 1693; constable, 1684; deacon 1719; died 1725, aged seventy-one. Will dated 1 Feb., 1724-5 and proved 11 May, 1725.

[1] See Savage I, 84; III, 599.

III. 10 Timothy Osgood (Capt. John, John), born in North Andover, 2 August, 1659; died 18 September, 1748; married 29 May, 1689[1] Deborah Poor; married, second, —— 1728, Mary Poole of Lynn, who died 13 July, 1752.

Children by first wife:

36 Mary, b. 11 Feb., 1690 (8 Aug., Sav.); d. 5 Dec., 1743. She was unmarried when her father's will was made.

37 Timothy, b. 16 Aug., 1691; d. 1 Apr., 1693.

38 Timothy, b. 22 Aug., 1693; d. 1773.

39 Sarah, b. 8 Aug., 1697; d. 6 Apr., 1760; m. 26 Mar., 1719, Samuel Frye and had nine children; Samuel Frye was probably the son of Samuel (1) (son of John Frye of Newbury) who married Mary, a daughter of John Aslett, 20 Nov. 1671. Sam'l Frye (2) was b. 26 Apr., 1694, and was nephew of James Frye who married Lydia Osgood. Sarah Osgood was the grandmother of Love Frye, who married for her second husband, Admiral Sir John Knight of the British Navy. Lady Knight, whose father was Col. Peter Frye of Salem, died at her seat near London in 1839.

40 Peter, b. 31 May, 1699; killed 1715 by an accidental discharge of a gun in a training field.

41 Deborah, b. 1702; m. a Mr. Swan and had four children. She died before her father's will was made, 1743, and which contains no reference to her, yet mentions her children. Swan was probably Richard Swan (see Abbott's Hist. of Andover, p. 30) who was born 1691, son of Robert Swan of Haverhill, who was son of Robert Swan of the same place (see Savage).

42 Isaac, b. 1707 or 8 and d. 1743 or before; unm.

Timothy Osgood was admitted freeman 18 April, 1691, constable 1692, fence viewer 1693–96, treasurer 1717–21. His will is dated 5 December, 1743, and was proved 12 December, 1748. His first wife was the daughter of Daniel Poor, who, at the age of fourteen, came over (in 1638) in the ship "Bevis" from Southampton. Daniel Poor came from Wiltshire[2] where he was born in 1624 and died in Andover in 1689–90. His name is spelled on the ship's register "Dayell." He married Mary Farnum, probably the daughter of Ralph Farnum[3] at Boston on 20 October, 1650. Ralf Farnum ("Farman" in ship's register) came from London as a barber surgeon

WILLIAM OSGOOD removed to Pomfret, Conn., about 1747; was a large land-owner and an active, influential and useful citizen; was representative and many years magistrate. His descendants have been worthy men and women, influential and honored wherever located. The following tribute to his memory is engraved on his tombstone:—

"Sic Transit Gloria Mundi."
William Osgood Esq.r
In memory of whom this stone is erected closed this mortal scene Sept. 20, 1791 in the 90th year of his age.
Of a reputable character, a supporter of the gospel and friend to mankind.

"The memory of the just is blessed
Decaying mortals here's the place
The house defined for Adam's race
Be ready then to meet the Lamb
Of God, the Judge, the great I am
Life how short eternity how long."

IV. 32 Hannah Osgood (Lieut. John, John, John), of Andover, born 24 June, 1699; died 4 Aug., 1765; married, first, 30 April, 1717, Theodore, son of Rev. Thomas and Elizabeth (Price) Barnard, of Andover, born 16 Feb., 1692, died 16 Feb., 1724–5. Rev. Thomas Barnard was the son of Frances and Hannah (Marvin) Barnard of Hartford, and was born in 1657. He was graduated from Harvard in 1679 and settled as a colleague of Rev. Frances Dane at Andover, in 1682. His first wife, whom he married 14 Dec., 1686, was Elizabeth, daughter of Theodore Price; she died 10 Oct., 1693, and he married 28 April, 1696, Abigail Bull, who died in 1702. His third wife was Lydia Goff, of Cambridge, whom he married in 1704 and who died at Charlestown Aug., 1743. Rev. Thomas Barnard died 13 Oct., 1718.

He had three sons: Thomas of Salem, a merchant, who was interested in the Barbadoes trade with the Lindalls, and to whose widow, Rachel, administration on his estate was granted 19 Nov., 1716; Rev. John Barnard, the minister at Andover, whose wife was Sarah Osgood (No. 68), daughter of Stephen Osgood; Theodore, a farmer in Andover, mentioned above as the husband of Hannah Osgood.

Administration on the estate of Theodore Barnard late of Andover, deceased, was granted to the widow Hannah, 11 May, 1725, with John Osgood of Andover, and Robert Lord of Ipswich, blacksmith, as sureties. In the inventory appear debts due the estate from the widow of Captain Christopher Osgood, Ebenezer Osgood and Samuel Osgood. Among the assets was an Indian girl valued at £30.

Children of Hannah and Theodore Barnard:[1]

ELIZABETH, b. — Nov., 1718; d. 29 Nov., 1789; m. 11 July, 1738, Hon. Samuel, son of Rev. Samuel and Hannah (White), Phillips of Andover, b. 13 Feb., 1715; d. 21 Aug., 1790; H. C. 1735. He was successively captain, major and colonel, serving in the Revolution.

127 HANNAH, b. 31 July, 1735; m. 23 Nov., 1758, Capt John Adams. He was in the French and Indian war; as a lieutenant commanded a company of minute men who marched to Cambridge, 19 April, 1775; was a captain during the revolution. Chosen deacon of First church, North Parish, 21 March, 1791, and died June, 1813, aged seventy-seven.

IV. 43 Mary Osgood (Peter, John, John), born 15 April, 1691; died 24 Sept., 1750, married 9 Sept., 1714,[1] Benjamin,[2] son of Rev. Benjamin and Mary (Ward) Woodbridge, born 12 Oct., 1680. His will was proved 17 July, 1738. He was of Salem.

It was a nephew, Benjamin, son of Dudley Woodbridge, who on the 3 July, 1728, was killed on Boston common by Henry Phillips, in a duel. Woodbridge and Phillips were boon companions and the trouble leading to the duel is variously stated to have been a love affair and cards. As a result of this duel the General Court enacted that any person killed in a duel should be buried with a stake driven through his body. Dr. Holmes has perpetuated the story in his "Autocrat of the Breakfast Table."

JAMES OSGOOD sold his estate in Andover, Mass., to his brother Samuel by deed dated 6 May, 1731, and moved to Pennacook (now Concord, N. H.), the same year with the first settlers of that place. He was a man of distinction; was chosen to the office of selectman and other town offices. His gravestone (upon which his name and age are engraved) is the oldest monument in Concord burying ground, and stands in the central part of the ground, near the monument of the Chadbourne family. His widow kept a public house called "Mother Osgood's Tavern." All their children, except Anna, emigrated to Conway and Fryeburg, about 1763, and settled on the new and fertile lands of Saco River, where their descendants are very numerous.

Hannah (Hazen) Osgood, was the daughter of Richard Hazen, born 6 Aug., 1669, who inherited a large estate. His wife was Mary daughter of captain John and Hannah (Andrews) Peabody, who was born in the ancient Peabody farm-house pictured in Sidney Perley's "Old Dwellings of Boxford."

Mrs. Osgood's grandmother, Hannah Andrews, was the daughter of Robert Andrew, the ancestor of governor John A. Andrew of Massachusetts. The great London banker and philanthropist, George Peabody, was a descendant of Lieut. Francis Peabody, the father of Capt. John Peabody. For many interesting details regarding the Hazen, Andrew and Peabody families, see the New England Historic Genealogical Register, Essex Institute Historical Collections and also Sidney Perley's History of Boxford.

ELIZABETH, b. 16 Jan., 1732; d. 8 Aug., 1732.

ELIZABETH, b. 20 Dec., 1735; d. 21 Sept., 1736.

REV. JOHN BARNARD was graduated from Harvard College in 1709, and for two or three years was master of the grammar school in Andover. He was next called to the charge of the grammar school at Salem (1712–13), and to Boston 25 Aug., 1713. He married 20 Oct., 1715, Sarah, daughter of Edward Martyn of Boston. He was ordained over the First church of Andover 8 April, 1719, removing thither that same month; his first wife Sarah died shortly after his removal. He ministered here for thirty-eight years. At the time of his death he had two sons settled in the ministry: Rev. Thomas Barnard (H. C. 1732) first of Newbury (1739–51) and later (1755) settled over the First church in Salem; a son, Thomas, was settled over the North church in Salem, and died in 1814, making an unbroken line of ministerial succession in Essex county for one hundred and thirty-two years.

The second son of the Rev. John was Rev. Edward of Haverhill (H. C. 1736). Both sons were among the most eminent divines of the day.

NOTE.—Besides the above Rev. John Barnard there were in Andover and contemporaries of his: John Barnard, husbandman, whose will is dated 13 Nov., 1753, and proved 5 April, 1756, who left wife Naomi and children, Mary, Rebecca and Sarah, one of whom married Eben Lovering, junior. His son Nathaniel had previously died leaving a daughter Mary. Another and eldest son was John to whose widow Alice, administration on his estate was granted, 1752; she died 1762. Their children were John, Sarah, wife of Jeremiah Kidder, Mehitable, Alice, Abigail, Lydia, Rebecca, and Jacob.

Rev. John Barnard of Marblehead, H. C. 1700, born 6 Nov., 1681, died 24 Jan., 1770, was a son of John (Matthew) Barnard of Boston, a different family from that of Andover. He, too, was an eminent divine.

There were thirteen of the name of Barnard graduated from Harvard College previous to the Revolution, of which number seven became ministers of the Gospel.

Col. Benjamin Osgood settled in Westford, where he became associated in the tanning business with Col. Samuel Wright, who, having no heir to his large estate, settled his property on Colonel Osgood. Their business was very extensive. He was a Justice of the Peace, and it is said of him that as a military or civil officer he understood his duty, and never faltered. He belonged to the Congregational society and in his religious views, as in other matters, his purposes were firm; he was not easily led from his established principles.

Firm in his friendships, and hospitable to strangers, he made many the recipients of his generosity. As a father, friend, citizen, in all the employments, civil or military, in which he was engaged, he united great business capacity with high moral qualities.

Abner Osgood joined the Shakers, in Massachusetts, but removed thence some time after 1775, to Canada, with his nephew, Jonas Osgood (No. 521), the son of Benjamin and Mary (Carter) Osgood. He probably settled at Eaton, Canada East. He was perhaps the Abner Osgood who enlisted for the Lake George expedition, 1755, and again, "aged twenty," in 1758, in which year he held a sergeant's commission. He again volunteered in 1759 and did garrison duty at Fort Halifax in 1761–2.

589 DAVID, b. 23 Dec., 1793; d. s. p.; m. Mary Ann Elder of Portland, Me. He was a physician in Boston.

[1] But variously stated elsewhere as February and January.

Rev. David Osgood, D.D., was graduated from Harvard College in 1771; ordained at Medford, Mass., 14 September, 1774; he was a gentleman of superior qualifications and attainments.

"A fearless honesty and entire freedom from disguise was a striking trait of his mind and heart. He followed the convictions of his conscience and never shrank from what he thought his duty. His piety was deep and fixed and free from noise and ostentation. As a theologian and preacher, Dr. Osgood must be allowed by all to have stood in the first rank. His eloquence was all his own, the natural overflowing of a soul full of its subject. The characteristics of his preaching were boldness and strength; powerful statements, heart searching appeals and elevating descriptions. He published a large number of sermons which do credit to him as a writer and man of powerful mind."—History of Andover, Mass., Abbott.

V. 222 Dr. Kendall Osgood (Capt. Isaac, Stephen, Stephen, John), of Atkinson, N. H. and Peterborough, N. H., born in Andover, 1757; died 19 Aug., 1801; married[1] 22 April, 1790, Louisa Peabody. She was born 6 May, 1764, and was the daughter of Lt. Ebenezer and Elizabeth (Pearl) Peabody, and granddaughter of Lt. Thomas Peabody who married Ruth Osgood (No. 90). Lt. Ebenezer Peabody was a brave soldier, participating in the Battle of Bunker Hill, and present at the surrender of Burgoyne. Mrs. Osgood died Nov., 1796.

Children:

590 Kendall, b. 15 Apr., 1788; d. 30 Jan., 1849.

591 Isaac P., b. 20 Feb., 1793; d., s. p., 12 Jan., 1867; m. 3 Aug., 1841, Mrs. Mary Ann (Price) Valentine, widow of Lawson Valentine of Boston. He was graduated from Harvard College in 1814 and practised law in Boston.

592 Elizabeth, b. 20 Mar., 1796; d. at Andover, 1821. At the time of her death was engaged to Robert Means of Boston.

[1] He probably had two wives, the first of whom must have died before his settlement at Peterborough.

Dr. Osgood studied medicine. He held the berth of surgeon upon a privateer during the Revolution, by which he acquired considerable wealth. In 1785 he settled at Atkinson, N. H., but removed in 1788 to Peterborough, N. H. He was one of the nineteen leading physicians who petitioned the Legislature for a charter for the N. H. Medical Society. It is recorded that the impression Dr. Osgood made upon the people of Peterborough was unfavorable, he being attired in red broadcloth coat, buff vest, and buckskin trousers with silver kneebuckles, silk stockings, wig and cocked hat, and that he found it impossible, in consequence, to pursue his profession in which it is to be presumed he stood well even if he dressed well. He gave his attention to agricultural matters and at his death left a bequest of $1,000 to the town.

820 CAROLINE M., b. 27 Feb., 1799; d. 1800.

HON. SAMUEL OSGOOD was graduated from Harvard College in 1770; studied theology intending to enter the ministry; but his health becoming impaired, he united with his brother Peter in business. Served as aid to Gen. Artemas Ward until 1776. After the beginning of the War of the Revolution he was reëlected a member of the Provincial Congress, and appointed one of the Board of War. He was a member of the State Convention to frame the Constitution in 1779. He was repeatedly chosen Member of Congress and was one of the Commissioners to manage the Treasury of the United States. Upon the organization of the government he was appointed Postmaster-General and was afterwards Collector of Customs at New York. He was respected for his talents and usefulness, for his urbanity and moral and religious worth. He devoted himself to literature and was an original member of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences.

VI. 323 Susannah Osgood (Capt. Peter, Timothy, Timothy, John, John), born in Andover, 23 Aug., 1753; died 28 Apr., 1846; married 7 Nov., 1771, Dr. Thomas Kittredge, born in Andover, 13 July, 1746. He was a son of Dr. John and Sarah (Merriam) Kittredge.

Dr. Kittredge was distinguished as a physician and surgeon throughout the state; which profession he began to practise in 1768. Was appointed surgeon at the opening of the Revolution and was stationed at Cambridge. He was present at the Battle of Bunker Hill. His uncommon urbanity of manners and his style of life and hospitality gave every aid to his talents and usefulness, so that as a citizen, a magistrate, a physician and friend, he had an uncommon share of the public confidence. In political sentiment Dr. Kittredge was of the party denominated Republican and on all occasions a strenuous advocate for their measures and for many years represented his town in the General Court; his patriotism and public virtue were unimpeached. He died in Andover 16 Oct., 1818, beloved and mourned.

Children:

Children of Isaac Osgood and Rebecca Taylor Pickman:

821 SALLY PICKMAN, b. 12 Apr., 1796; d. 18 July, 1835; m. 20 Feb., 1816, Rev. Bailey Loring.

822 GAYTON P., b. 4 July, 1797; d. s. p. 26 June, 1861; m. 24 Mar., 1859, Mary, dau. of Isaac and Persis Farnham of Andover; she died 22 March, 1864, aged 45. He was a lawyer and farmer in Andover, Representative to the State Legislature, Member of Congress from 1833 to 1834.

823 ISAAC, b. in Salem 23 May, 1799; d. 2 Sept., 1834.

ISAAC OSGOOD, Esq., was a person of good education and Clerk of the Courts in Essex County from 1781 to 1794. He was generally known as "Clerk" Osgood. He resided in Salem, Mass., from 1780 to 1803, and then returned to Andover, his native place, where he died aged ninety-two years, two months, and fifteen days.

The Pickmans of Salem were descended from Nathaniel Pickman, who with his wife Tabitha and several children settled in Salem, coming it is said from Bristol. His will was dated 28 September, 1684, and proved the 25 November. His son Benjamin baptized, it is said, at Bristol, 1645, married Elizabeth Hardy and had a son named Benjamin whose second wife was Abigail Lindall, daughter of Timothy and Mary (Veren) Lindall, of Salem. Their daughter Abigail married Nathaniel Ropes, and Sarah married George Curwen. Sarah Curwen was told by her mother, Abigail (Lindall) Pickman, that she had seen Giles Corey while he was being drawn through the street, with heavy weights upon him pressing him to death, with his tongue hanging from his mouth, and that a gentleman standing by pressed it back with his cane. Giles Corey was pressed to death in 1692 for refusing to put himself upon the country for trial for the crime of witchcraft. Hon. Benjamin Pickman was also one of their children and he married in October, 1731, Love Rawlins. His children were Col. Benjamin, born 7 Nov., 1740, of whom presently, Clarke Gayton, William, Love married to Col. Peter Frye, Abigail married to William Epes, and Judith who married Dr. Edward A. Holyoke, the centenarian. Hon. Benjamin died 20 August, 1773; and his wife 9 June, 1786.

Col. Benjamin Pickman married 22 April, 1762, Mary, daughter of Dr. Barzillai Toppan. Their granddaughter Mary Toppan (daughter of Thomas and Sophia [Farmer] Pickman) married Dr. George B. Loring (see No. 821). He died 13 May, 1819, leaving among others, Hon. Benjamin, who was member of Congress, etc., married Austiss, daughter of Elias Haskett Derby.

Clarke Gayton Pickman, born 30 July, 1746; died 30 Nov., 1789; married Sarah, daughter of Timothy Orne, 24 July, 1770. She died Sept., 1812. Timothy Orne is said to have built the house still standing on Essex street, square, in order that each of his four daughters could have a quarter. Clarke G. Pickman lived in the Brookhouse mansion on Washington street, Salem, built for him by his father, but later removed to the Orne house. The Pickman mansion is still standing but completely changed in its appearance as far as the Essex-street front is concerned. The rooms, hallways, etc., are still to be seen in part. The site is next to the Peabody Academy of Science on Essex street, facing St. Peter street.

Charles Hiram, b. 28 Apr., 1829; lives in Hudson, Michigan.

At the age of sixteen years, Hiram Putnam, after receiving a limited common-school education, and spending two years in a country store, shipped before the mast, on the ship Aurora, for Hamburg and St. Petersburg. Jeremiah Putnam was master of the vessel and William Gray of Salem the owner. This was on the 28 March, 1802. During the next ten years, he sailed to the East Indies and to Copenhagen, Spain and other countries with which Salem had commercial relations. In 1812 he commanded the ship China, belonging to Joseph Peabody of Salem. He retired from the sea in 1827 and, after two years of travel and observation, settled in Syracuse, where he immediately took an important part in the management of the town affairs, being for several years on the Village board of trustees and also its president. During the epidemic of Asiatic cholera in 1832, which raged with fearful results in that locality, Captain Putnam was conspicuous for his courage and devotion. Having brought with him capital, he engaged in the salt business and later, with Thomas B. Fitch, Esq., engaged in the wholesale and retail drug business from which he retired in 1846. He was prompt, sagacious and enterprising, honorable and courteous. He was one of the incorporators of the Onondaga Co. Bank in 1830, and one of its directors, also a trustee of the Syracuse Savings Bank. Being a large owner of real estate, his property increased with the growth of the city, and at his death was quite large. The schools and charitable societies of Syracuse owe much to Captain Putnam, many of them their very being. He was trustee of every prominent charity in the city, and held the position of state trustee of the asylum. He was a strong Unitarian, being the first to agitate the establishment of a church of that denomination in Syracuse and a constant aid to the society. In politics Captain Putnam was an anti-slavery man, later a Republican. He was interred at Oakwood by the side of his wife, his funeral being attended by a vast concourse of friends and representatives from associations with which he had been connected.

Rev. Israel Warburton Putnam was among the very foremost of Congregationalist divines of his times, although he entered the ministry somewhat late in life, his father and others not believing that he was destined for the church.

His early education was obtained at Franklin Academy, North Andover, where he was prepared for college. He was graduated from Dartmouth College in 1809, and commenced to study law with Judge Samuel Putnam at Salem; but after two years and a half he became convinced that his duty was to labor in the ministry and entered, 1812, Andover Theological Seminary. He was ordained at Portsmouth, 15 March, 1815, and continued in the ministry there for twenty years until dismissed at his own request. During this period he was very active in theological matters. His well-known "Thanksgiving sermon" was preached at Portsmouth in 1826. One of his earliest articles was published in the Panoplist in 1813, entitled "Does the Bible contain any Doctrines contrary to Reason?" He became a Trustee of Dartmouth College in 1820 and was trustee of Berwick Academy from 1820 to 1835. Installed at Middleborough, Oct., 1835, where he remained until his death. The degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred by Dartmouth in 1853.

During his long and useful life he showed great interest in educational and historical matters.

His grandfather Archelaus Fuller was a member of the Provincial Congress at Cambridge and Watertown in 1775, and died a colonel in the Revolutionary Army.

2340 Alfred T., b. 14 Mar., 1844; m. Clara Kenyon.

Rev. Alfred Osgood went to Hamilton, N. Y., in 1830, united with the Baptist church in Hamilton and was licensed to preach by that church. In 1835 he was ordained as an Evangelist. In 1836 was appointed by the Home Missionary Society to preach in Ulster, N. Y. In 1838 moved to Charlestown, Ohio, and labored in that place eight years. In 1846 moved to La Salle, Ill., collected money and built the first Protestant church in that place. In 1849 entered land twelve miles south of La Salle, on the open prairie, and built a house on it, which is now the centre of Hope Town.

In the early part of his life, while in Massachusetts, he collected a large amount of matter for a register of the Osgood people. His papers were consumed by fire with the building where he dwelt, which discouraged him from further labors on that subject.

2738 MARIE JEANNETTE, b. 9 April, 1877.

GEORGE L. OSGOOD was graduated from Harvard College in the class of 1866; during three years of his college course, he was conductor of the Harvard Glee Club and orchestra. Upon graduation he went to Berlin and studied musical composition under Haupt, and singing under Sielier.

In Halle he formed an intimate acquaintance with Robert Frary, and pursued the study of choral work under the noted master of German song. In 1869 he went to Italy and studied singing for three years, under the famous master, Lamperti, of Milan. In 1870–71, he gave concerts in all the principal cities of Germany. Returning to America in 1872, he was engaged immediately by Theodore Thomas for a tour through America in connection with his orchestra. The year after, he settled in Boston and soon became celebrated as a teacher, composer and conductor. In 1875 he assumed directorship of the Boylston Club and gave to Boston one of the most noteworthy and notable singing societies in its musical history. The name was subsequently changed to the "Boston Singers' Society," and the perfection of their singing attained both a national and European reputation. As a composer, Mr. Osgood has attained great popularity, and his Guide in the Art of Singing has passed through eight editions. Mr. Osgood is a member of the St. Botolph and University Clubs of Boston, was for many years a member of the Union Club, and was created honorary member of the Phi Beta Kappa, of Harvard University. For many years Mr. Osgood lived on Divinity Avenue, Cambridge, but in 1891, built in Brookline, and now (1894), resides there.

CHRISTOPHER OSGOOD

OF IPSWICH.

DESCENDANTS OF CHRISTOPHER OSGOOD.

I. 1 Christopher Osgood, of Ipswich, Essex County, Mass.; died 1650; married, first, at St. Mary's, Marlborough, England, 21 April, 1632, Mary Everatt, who was buried 21 April, 1633; married, second, at St. Mary's, Marlborough, England, 28 July, 1633, Margery, daughter of Philip and Mary (Winsley or Winslow) Fowler, baptized 25 May, 1615, at Marlborough, Wiltshire, England; she married, second, soon after 1650, Thomas Rowell, of Salisbury, who was one of the original proprietors of Salisbury in 1639; married, third, Thomas Coleman, prior to 1670, who died in Nantucket; married, fourth, Thomas Osborne, of Nantucket.

After the decease of Christopher Osgood, his son Christopher sold out the estate left him by his father in Ipswich, and moved to Andover, where dwelt the children of John Osgood. Thomas Osgood, brother of Christopher Osgood, also settled in Andover. These brothers in some records are erroneously called sons of John.

Children, by first wife:

2 Mary, b. in England 1633; m. 1 June, 1651, John Lovejoy.

By second wife:

3 Abigail, b. in Ipswich, Mass., 1636; m. 9 April, 1657, Sherburne Wilson.
4 Elizabeth, b. abt. 1638.
5 Deborah, b. abt. 1640; m. 28 Aug., 1663, John Ross.
6 Christopher, b. in Ipswich, Mass., 1643; d. 1723.
7 Thomas, b. 1651.

Christopher Osgood and wife Margaret came to New England in the "Mary and John" from London, 24 March, 1633-34. On this vessel were also the parents of Margaret Osgood, Philip and Mary Fowler. They all settled in Ipswich, being among the earliest there. His grants of land there in 1635 adjoined those of his father-in-law.

In the parish church of St. Thomas in Salisbury, Wilts, occurs the following:

"1599. October. X. pofer Osgood married to Eliz. Brockwell, the 30."

"In the registry of wills, at Salisbury, is that of Elizabeth Osgood, widow, dated June 18, 1612, and proved the same year. She desires to be buried in the churchyard of St. Thomas, and names her son[1] Mathew Mayland, Margaret, wife of Edward Noble, Priscilla Hicks, son-in-law Thomas Roberts, and friends John Hicks and John Upton.

"I am indebted to Mr. Harrison, of the College of Arms, for the following copy of a pedigree in a private collection there. He says, in transmitting it, that he believes Christopher was the name of the father of Christopher, William and Mary, and as the name is an uncommon one, I would suggest that Christopher of Salisbury was father of Christopher of Marlborough and grandfather of Christopher of Ipswich.

"It would appear from the pedigree that this branch of the family is extinct in England, in the male line.[2]

"On referring to the parish register of St. Mary's in Marlborough, Wilts, which begins in 1602, I find the following entries:

[1] i. e., son-in-law. N. E. Historic Genealogical Register, Vol. xx, p. 25.

[2] Mr. Harrison in his chart of the Osgood family of Marlborough, Wilts, England, has made Mary Osgood baptized 17 March, 1632-3, as sister of Christopher Osgood and daughter of . . . . . Osgood, instead of daughter of Christopher Osgood of Marlborough, Wilts, England, as the records plainly show, and only suggests that his grandfather was a Christopher Osgood from Salisbury, England, while in the "Fowler Genealogy" (evidently copying from the Register) it is stated as a fact; but there is no evidence that such was the case, and if this theory of Mr. Harrison is accepted then Christopher Osgood, who had daughter Mary baptized 17 March, 1632-3, in St. Mary's Parish, Marlborough, England, had a son Christopher and William born in England; this William buried at Marlborough, 2 July, 1673, and it is hardly plausible, as Christopher Osgood, the N. E. emigrant of 1635, had Christopher born in Ipswich 1643, and hardly could have had a son Christopher and William born in England between 1632 and 1635 besides daughter Mary, or could he have left an infant son William behind him in England, in all probability, provided he had one. The fact appears that in this "private collection" two different families have been intermingled, and the records are antagonistic to the statements made as to the father and grandfather of Christopher[1] Osgood, the emigrant settler at Ipswich, Mass., 1635.

(COMPILER OF OSGOOD MSS.)

Baptized, 1632-3, March 17, Mary, daughter of Christopher Osgood.

Married 1632, April 21, Christopher Osgood and Mary Everatt.

Married 1633, July 28, Christopher Osgood and Margery Fowler.

Buried 1633, April 21, Mary Osgood."

THE LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF CHRISTOPHER OSGOOD, OF IPSWICH, ESSEX COUNTY, MASS.

I, Christopher Osgood of Ipswich, being weake in body but of perfect understandinge & memory, doe committ my soule into the hands of my redeemer, & concerning that little estate the Lord hath lent mee this is my last will and testament.

First, I do give unto my eldest daughter, Mary-Osgood, ten pounds to be paid her or her assigns at her day of marriage, & to my other three daughters, Abigail, Elizabeth & Deborah five pounds to each of them to be paid to them & every one of them at or upon their respective dayes of marriage. And to my sonne Christopher-Osgood I do give my house and lands to have & enjoy the same at the age of two & seventie yeares. And my will is that my beloved wife Margery Osgood shal be the sole executrix of this my will, & to enjoy the proffitt & benefitt of my Estate duringe the minority of my children as above said.

And lastly I doe request and desire Mr. John Norton and my father Philip Fowler to be overseers that this my will be performed according to the true intent thereof.

In witness heereof I have subscribed my hand this nineteenth day of Aprill, 1650.

CHRISTOPHER OSGOOD [L. S.]

I do also desire our respected Major to ajoine with Mr. Norton & my Father.

Witness, Nathaniel Matthew,
Joseph Rowlandson,
Daniel Rolfe.

Memorandum which was forgotten, my will is that my oldest daughter marry not without the desire of my wife & the consent of my overseers & that my younger daughters marry not without the consent of their mother & the advice of the overseers if it may be had, and that their several portions be paid unto them when they shall attaine the age of twenty yeares if they be not marryed before that age.

CHRISTOPHER OSGOOD.

Proved by the oath of Daniel Rolfe the 10th of the 8th m.: 1650.

per me, ROBERT LORD.

SECOND GENERATION.

II. 6 Capt. Christopher Osgood (Christopher), of Andover, Mass.; born 1643; died 1723; married 6 Dec., 1663, Hannah Belknap, of Lynn, Mass., who died 21 Nov., 1679; married, second, 22 May, 1680, Hannah Barker, who died 6 April, 1687; married, third, Sarah ——, who died July, 1689; married, fourth, Sarah ——, who survived him. After the marriage of his mother to Deacon Rowell of Andover, Mass., he sold out the estate left him by his father in Ipswich, and moved to Andover, Mass., where dwelt the children of John Osgood; there he resided till his decease, 1723. He was a millwright, as was also the William Osgood of Salisbury. He built Frye's mills in Andover. He was Captain, and Representative from Andover 1690.

Children, by first wife:

8 Mary, b. 5 July, 1665; m. 2 May, 1689, John Marston.
9 Hannah, b. 19 Oct., 1668; m. 27 Aug., 1688, John Carleton.
10 Dorothy, b. 4 July, 1671; m. —— Anniss.
11 Abigail, b. 29 Aug., 1673; m. 2 Aug., 1694, Joseph Carleton.
12 Christopher, b. 28 June, 1675; d. 11 Sept., 1739.
13 Ezekiel, b. 5 Nov., 1679; d. 1741.

By second wife:

14 Priscilla, b. in Andover, Mass., 1 April, 1681; m. James Russell.
15 Sarah, b. in Andover, Mass., 19 Feb., 1683; m. —— Gray.
16 Esther, b. in Andover, Mass., 31 Oct., 1684; m. —— Langdon.
17 Anna, b. 8 Mar., 1687; d. 15 April, 1687.

By fourth wife:

18 Rebecca, b. in Andover, Mass., 3 May, 1692; d. 29 July, 1727; m. 17 Sept., 1710, Robert Barnard.
19 Lydia, b. 14 June, 1694; d. 20 July, 1694.
20 Lydia, b. in Andover, Mass., 1 Sept., 1695; m. Sherebiah Barnard.
21 Martha, b. in Andover, Mass., 14 Dec., 1698; m. Daniel Moore.

22 Jeremiah, b. in Andover, April, 1702.

23 Mary, b. in Andover, Mass., 1705; d. 6 April, 1772; m. 13 Jan., 1724, Capt. John Foster, of Andover, Mass., who d. 17 June, 1772. Ch.: William, b. 24 Sept., 1727; d. 16 April, 1729. John, b. 22 Mar., 1729; d. 8 April, 1729. William, b. 4 March, 1730; of South Andover, Mass.; d. 1 Sept., 1803; m. Hannah Abbott. Mary, b. 13 Jan., 1732; d. at birth. John, b. 14 Feb., 1733. Solomon, b. 14 Apr., 1743. Osgood, b. 10 Nov., 1745; d. 15 Nov., 1745.

II. 7 Thomas Osgood (Christopher), born in Ipswich, 1651; removed to Andover; married 22 May, 1674, Susannah Lord, of Ipswich. The Andover records give no account of him or of any of his family after the date of birth of his child Mehitable (1694). It is supposed he moved from Andover with his entire family, but where is not known. It is probable that Thomas and his entire family were in the Dorchester, Mass., emigration which went to South Carolina about 1697.

Children, born in Andover, Mass.:

24 Mary, b. 14 Feb., 1675.
25 Sarah, b. 6 Feb., 1677.

He was a millwright and resided in Billerica, Mass.; built and owned the first mills on Concord river, where now it is intersected by the canal. David Osgood was appointed 3 June, 1764, guardian of his mother, Elizabeth Osgood, who was non compos.

Children:

35 Christopher, b. 21 July, 1712; d. 26 Aug., 1748.
36 Phineas, b. 20 June, 1714; d. 3 June, 1756.
37 Joseph, b. 4 Sept., 1715; d. 9 Dec., 1715.

By second wife:

38 Elizabeth, b. 13 June, 1718; d. 5 July, 1718.
39 Joseph, b. 10 July, 1719; m. Sarah ——— .
40 Benjamin, b. in Billerica, Mass., 25 May, 1721. He was commander of a military company and went to Canada as such in the time of the French war; was taken prisoner and died on his way home, 6 Oct., 1748. His brother David was administrator of his estate.
41 David, b. 3 June, 1724; d. 1768.
42 Elizabeth, b. 22 Jan., 1726.
43 Jonathan, b. 24 Aug., 1727; d. 15 May, 1729.

III. 13 Ezekiel Osgood (Christopher, Christopher), of Andover, Mass., farmer; born in Andover, Mass., 5 Nov., 1679; died there 1741. Will dated 5 Nov., 1740, and probated 20 April, 1741. His son Samuel was executor. He married 20 Feb., 1710, Rebecca Wardwell; married, second, Mary ———.

Children:

44 Ezekiel, b. 12 Jan., 1712; d. 25 Jan., 1798.
45 Samuel, b. 27 May, 1714; d. 16 Mar., 1774.
46 Christopher, b. 1716.
47 Hannah, b. 1718; m. John Adams.
48 John, b. 24 Jan., 1725.
49 Mary, b. 16 June, 1729; m. William Dane.
50 Elizabeth, b. 20 Aug., 1732; m. Samuel Martin.

III. 22 Jeremiah Osgood (Christopher, Christopher), of Andover, Mass., and Pomfret, Conn.; born April, 1702; married 29 Nov., 1727, Lydia Poor; married, second, 29 May, 1745, Mary Chandler.

Children, by first wife:

51 Lydia, b. 8 Sept., 1728.
52 Mary, b. 5 Aug., 1729.
53 Rebecca, b. 4 Sept., 1730.
54 Mehitable, b. 20 Mar., 1732; m. Abiel Lyon.
55 Jeremiah, b. 3 Sept., 1733; d. 3 Oct., 1733.
56 Jeremiah, b. 16 May, 1735; removed to Pomfret, Conn., with his father, in 1748.
57 Daniel, b. 29 Apr., 1737.
58 Sarah, b. 23 Apr., 1741; m. 17 Mar., 1760, Jonathan Blanchard, of Amherst, Mass.

By second wife:

59 Dorcas, b. 14 July, 1746; d. in infancy.
60 Dorcas, b. 11 Aug., 1748.

Jeremiah Osgood was born at Andover, Mass., and lived there until about 1748, when he removed with his family to Pomfret, Conn., where he had purchased a farm of 148 acres. The deed of David Steele to Jeremiah Osgood dated 20 Mar., 1748, and deed from Jeremiah Osgood to Daniel Trowbridge dated 3 April, 1761, show that he removed there about 1748; and about the same time when William Osgood settled there. The Pomfret Records do not give much account of him or of his family, and it is probable his children left Pomfret, as we find his descendants in other places.

FOURTH GENERATION.

REV. SAMUEL OSGOOD, D.D., of New York city, was graduated from Harvard College in 1832, and completed his theological studies in the Divinity School at Cambridge, 1835. He was ordained as pastor of the Unitarian church in Nashua, N. H., in 1837, where he remained until 1841, when he went to Providence, R. I. In 1849 he went to New York city and became pastor of the Church of the Messiah. In 1857 the degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon him by Harvard College. The following is an extract from a biographical sketch of Dr. Osgood, published in the "Liberal Christian," April 6, 1867:

"Dr. Osgood's literary record is one of great activity and honor. His original writings are: 'Studies in Christian Biography,' 'The Hearth Stone,' 'God with Men,' 'Milestones on our Life Journey,' 'Student Life.' The chief of his later works are, 'Memorial of Edward Everett,' 'New York in the Nineteenth Century,' 'American Leaves,' a work recently issued. Dr. Osgood has been a constant contributor to the 'Christian Intelligencer,' the 'Christian Register,' the 'North American Review,' and other periodicals. He edited the 'Christian Inquirer' from 1850 to 1854, and the 'Western Messenger,' in 1836 and 1837. He is deeply attached to the young and especially interested in fostering their moral and religious character.

As a preacher, he announces boldly his own convictions on questions which enter into the daily life of his hearers. His portrait evinces emotion, sympathy and refinement in every lineament. Few countenances are more classic in expression. There is the unmistakable impress of the scholar, the man of close reading, and of earnest thought. His language is fluent, graceful and polished. The organs which supply sentiments of beauty, grandeur and sublimity are large in his head and, conspiring with the strong moral qualities of his brain, induce breadth and fervor of philanthropic sentiment and earnest sympathy with social progress."

DESCENDANTS OF WILLIAM OSGOOD.

I. 1 William Osgood, of Salisbury, Essex County, Mass., 1640; born, in England, 1609; died 1700, aged ninety-one years, in Salisbury, Mass.; married Elizabeth ———.

Children:

2 ELIZABETH, d. prior to 1700; m. Robert Quimby, of Salisbury. Ch.: Lydia, b. 22 Nov., 1657; m. 10 Apr., 1674, William Holdridge. William, b. 11 Apr., 1660. John, b. 7 July, 1665. Thomas, b. 12 Aug., 1667.

3 JOANNA, m. Robert Jones, of Amesbury, Mass. Ch.: William, b. 12 Feb., 1659. Robert, b. 17 July, 1660. Joseph, b. 7 Aug., 1664. Elizabeth, b. 24 Oct., 1666; m. John Flanders.[1]

4 JOHN, b. 8 Aug., 1647; d. 7 Nov., 1683.

5 WILLIAM, b. 8 Aug., 1647; d. 29 Mar., 1729.

6 MARY, b. 3 Jan., 1649; m. 9 Dec., 1668, Thomas Currier, of Amesbury, Mass.

7 JOSEPH, b. 18 Jan., 1651; d. 22 Feb., 1664.

8 SARAH, b. 7 Dec., 1652; m. John Colby, of Amesbury, Mass.

WILLIAM OSGOOD, the youngest of the three emigrant Osgoods, Christopher, John and William, was born 1609 and came to this country in company with the family of the emigrant John in the ship Confidence, which sailed from Southampton, England, April 11, 1638. The family of John consisted of wife Sarah and four children born in England.

William may have served as protector of John's family as the father was already in New England, judging of the country. The first mention of William in this country is that of his building a barn for John Spencer, of Newbury, in 1640.

John settled first in Newbury, and William no doubt had his home with John's family, as we have no account that he was married at that time. He was a millwright and carpenter. He and his associates, in prospecting the valley of the Merrimac for a place to locate, hearing the sound of waterfalls at a distance, went in the direction of the sound and came to the falls on the Powow river, not far from its junction with the Merrimac. The place being favorable for mill sites he located there and built and owned the first mills in Salisbury, which long retained the name of Osgood's Mills.

These mills were built where now stand the Salisbury factories. He was one of the proprietors of Salisbury, 1640, and had a grant of land on each side of the Powow extending from its junction with the Merrimac back half a mile, embracing a large portion of the land on which stands the settlement of Salisbury and Amesbury Mills. This homestead farm contained a six-acre lot on Round Hill, in Salisbury, besides which he owned other tracts of land.

His wife's name was Elizabeth, which is all the account we have of her except what comes by the way of tradition. The story runs thus: After the decease of Elizabeth when the emigrant had become aged, there was a husking in the log house where William lived. In the course of the evening, as the young people became merry, cracking their jokes over the red ears of corn, their merriment awakened, in the aged emigrant's mind, recollections of his earlier years. The old man who was in a part of the room by himself, in response to their hilarity broke out in a sort of musical speech, "My wife was Betty Cleer, and I loved her before I see her."

The emigrant William died in 1700, at the advanced age of 91. At the time of this writing, there is no trace nor knowledge of the place of his burial.

We quote the following from the N. E. Hist. Gen. Reg., Vol. XXII, p. 81:

"I have received several communications from descendants of William Osgood, of Salisbury, Mass., who, it is said, built a barn at Newbury, in 1640, for Mr. John Spencer, requesting information concerning his English ancestry, and I regret that my investigations have not enabled me to trace his parentage, etc., to my satisfaction. He could not have been the William Osgood, described as a 'child under 11 years of age,' who accompanied Sarah Osgood to England in the ship Confidence, in April, 1638, unless his age was accidentally or purposely misstated.

He may possibly have been one of the persons of that name referred to in the following wills:—Ann Osgood of West Woodhay, Co. Berks, widow of Richard Osgood of same place, in her will dated May 16th, 17 James Ist (1620), appoints William Osgood one of the overseers of it. Richard Osgood of Shipton, in his will dated May 23, 1625, appoints his son William executor.

West Woodhay is about six miles W. S. W. of Newbury, and about ten miles N. of Andover. Shipton, Hants, is about eight miles west of Andover, and ten or twelve miles N. E. of Salisbury.

THE LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT OF WILLIAM OSGOOD OF SALISBURY, ESSEX CO., MASS.

In the name of God, Amen. I, William Osgood senr of the town of Salisbury in the county of Essex, in his Majesty's Province of the Massachusetts Bay in New England, being weak of body, but through the goodnes of God of sound, & disposing memory & understanding, Do make this my last Will & testament, in manner & form following,

First and principally I commend my soul to God who gave it, & my body to the dust from whence it was taken, decently to be buried, with christian Burial, at the discretion of my Executors herein after named, in hopes of a joyful Resurrection to life eternal at the last day, through the perfect merits of Christ my Redeemer. Nextly, as for my worldly goods & Estate, after payment of all my just debts & funeral expenses, I dispose of as followeth vizt.

Imprimis—I give & bequeath unto my son William Osgood one hundred acres of my six score acre lot lying in the township of Salisbury above said at a place commonly called "Round Hill," as also my dwelling house & land adjoining, or homestead, & my tide meadow lot & my lot of salt meadow lying near a place commonly called Munday's Pond, as also a full & complete half of all my other meadows, except that which is in a place in Salisbury commonly called the "higly piglys," during the term of his natural life, & unto Abigail his now wife, if she survive him, during the time of her remaining his widow, & upon the expiration of the abovesaid terms, unto the sons of the said W^m^ Osgood my son in equal proportion, To have & to hold to themselves their heirs or assigns forever. Also I give unto my said son William Osgood the one half of my grist mill with the privileges thereunto belonging during the term of his natural life.

Item—I give & bequeath unto my grandson John Osgood son of my said son William Osgood the one half of my said grist mill with the privileges thereunto belonging to be possest thereof at my decease, & the other half also at the decease of my said son William Osgood, his father. Always provided that the said John Osgood pay or cause to be paid & delivered in some good & merchantable pay, at price current & merchantable, the full sum of twenty shillings unto my granddaughter Elizabeth, now wife of John Flanders of Salisbury or unto her order in said town within one year next after my decease, which I give & bequeath to her as a Legacy.

Item—I give & bequeath unto my grandson William Osgood son of my son John Osgood deceased, all that house & housing, and land adjoining of mine in Salisbury which his father did possess in his life time, always provided that he do leave and allow a convenient high way from the country road over the back river to the land of Thomas Currier for the use of said Currier, his heirs, & assigns forever, & also that he pay, or cause to be paid & delivered unto his sister Hannah Osgood or her order, within the town of Salisbury in some good & merchantable pay, at price current & merchantable, the full sum of four pounds within one year next after he does possess the abovesaid housing & land I have given to him. Also I give unto him the one full and complete half of my lot of meadow lying in the "cow common," so called in Salisbury.

Item—I give & bequeath unto my grandson John Osgood son of my said son John Osgood deceased, twenty acres of upland lying in the upper end of my six score acre lot, called "Round Hill" lot, on the condition that he leave a convenient high way, next unto land of Ensign William Allen for the use of those, who shall hereafter possess that other part of said six score acre lot by lawful derived title from me, or my heirs, as also that he pay or cause to be paid & delivered unto his sister Hannah Osgood or her order within the town of Salisbury in some good & merchantable pay at price current & merchantable the full & just sum of four pounds within one year next after my decease, which together with the above mentioned four pounds to be paid by his brother William, I give unto her for a Legacy.

Item. I give & bequeath unto grandson Thomas Quimby son of my daughter Elizabeth Quimby deceased (as a Legacy), forty shillings in good pay, to be disposed of for his use out of my part of the rent which shall be due to me from or out of the income of the fulling mill which Benjamin Eastman sen^r is about to build at the discretion of said Benj. Eastman.

Item. I give & bequeath unto my daughter Joanna wife of Robert Jones of Amesbury the one half of my fresh meadow lying in Salisbury at a place commonly called "bugs-mow," as also a lot of upland which I had by execution upon judgment in Court obtained against widow Mary Challis administratrix to the Estate of her once husband Philip Watson Challis deceased, lying in Amesbury, at a place commonly called "Thorn Hill."

Item. I give & bequeath unto my daughter Sarah, wife of John Colby of Amesbury all that my lot of upland lying in Amesbury at a place commonly called the "Birchen meadows."

Item. I give & bequeath unto my daughter in law Abigail now wife of my son William Osgood all my household goods of what sort or kind soever they be.

Item. All the rest of my lands, meadows goods & estate whatsoever, not herein before bequeathed, after my debts & funeral discharged as abovesaid I do give & bequeath unto my loving son-in-law Thomas Currier sen$^{r}$ of Amesbury, whom I make & appoint sole executor of this my last Will & testament to take care that it be in all respects & particulars punctually observed and fulfilled. And hereby revoking all other Wills by me heretofore made I William Osgood sen$^{r}$ do subscribe, seal & acknowledge the contents of this instrument to be my last Will & testament this 15$^{th}$ day of March in the twelvth year of the reign of our sovereign Lord William the third, by the grace of God of England, Scotland &c., King, Anno Domini one thousand seven hundred.

Capt. Chase Osgood, to use his own language, was a poor boy, bound out till twenty-one, to learn the trade of shoemaker and tanner. A clause in the will of William Osgood, his grandfather, reads thus: "I give to my grandson, Chase Osgood, the son of my son Timothy Osgood deceased, five pounds in good bills of credit, in or as Old Tenor, to be paid by my executor one year after my decease & my wife's." He married 22 Nov., 1750, Martha Tucker, of Salisbury, and continued his residence there till 1756; when, having purchased a place in Epping, N. H., he moved thither, as did also his cousin Reuben, about the same time. His wife Martha died 1767, and he married, second, Shuah Eastman, sister to Ebenezer Eastman one of the early settlers of Gilmanton, N. H. She died 1776 and he married, third, Phebe Stevens, of Exeter, N. H., who survived him.

He sold his place in Epping, and bought the Col. Joseph Tilton farm in Loudon, whither he removed in 1794 with his son Samuel and his minor children, Sarah, Hannah, Olive, Edward and Betsey. Twenty-seven years of the morning of his life he spent in Salisbury, Mass., his native town; thirty-eight years of the vigor of his manhood in Epping, N. H., where all his children but the two eldest were born, and twenty-three years of the evening of his day in Loudon, N. H., where he died 10 Mar., 1817, at the advanced age of eighty-eight years, and was interred in the Centre Burying Ground. His funeral sermon was preached by the aged and venerable father in the ministry Rev. Isaac Smith, of Gilmanton, N. H. His wife Phebe in her last years lived with her daughter Sarah, in Loudon, and died there.

In person Captain Osgood was above the medium size with a broad, well-proportioned and vigorous form.

Being deprived of the advantages of an education, he pursued a business of manual labor through life.

In the time of the Revolutionary War, he was captain of a military company, and was generally known as Capt. Chase Osgood. He was naturally of a thoughtful, sedate turn, had much decision, a strong mind and was not easily swerved from his matured opinions. In religious sentiment he was a Congregationalist and attended Rev. Mr. Stearns' meeting in Epping, N. H., and Rev. Mr. Tucker's, at Loudon, N. H. By his wife Martha he had six sons; by his wife Shuah, one son and three daughters, and by his wife Phebe, one son and four daughters. Of these fifteen children, the eight sons and six of the daughters were married and had families.

IRA OSGOOD was a school-teacher and farmer, pursuing the profession of teaching for fifteen years. He settled on the homestead farm of his father in Loudon, N. H.; held various public offices, in town and county; was many years one of the selectmen, representative, magistrate; and postmaster for forty years. He began his labors on the "Osgood Genealogy" about 1859. Previous to this date, no general record of the Osgood people had ever been made. A few individuals of the name recorded a few families of some particular branch, which is all that had been done in this direction.

Although meeting with many obstacles and hindrances in the work, he prosecuted it with much interest and assiduity, hoping to be able at some time to publish a register, giving a full genealogical account of the Osgood people of this country, as their large number, usefulness, and honorable standing as a family, entitled them to such a record.

The object of the compiler of the register was to furnish the Osgood people with the means of tracing their ancestors back to the three emigrants of the name, Christopher, John and William Osgood, and the descendants of any ancestor down to the present time, and to obtain a better knowledge of the great Osgood family of the country; but he passed away without being able to make all the families as complete as he desired.

JACOB OSGOOD resided on the homestead of his father in Warner, N. H., and was a farmer and preacher. He was the originator and leader of a new sect denominated after himself as Osgoodites. He was naturally honest-hearted and outspoken in his sentiments and had a great aversion to pride and ostentation. The traits of decision, determination, fearlessness and perseverance were very fully developed in him. He had no fear of opponents and was very conscientious in the discharge of what he deemed his duty. He labored under some disadvantages through neglect of proper training in early life of his passions.

There are many anecdotes of his eccentricities. In the time of the war of 1812, he was required to do military duty; but, having conscientious objections to performing military service, he neglected to comply with the requirements. This resulted in his being tried before a magistrate and fined for non-appearance; upon his refusal to pay the fine he was lodged in Hopkinton jail.

After lying in jail some weeks, during which time his followers often met outside the jail and prayed and sang to comfort Jacob, and there being no probability that he would pay the fine, the court directed the jailer to give him his liberty. When this was announced to him, Jacob replied that as they had thrust him into jail against his will and conscience they must take him up and carry him out, and restore to him his liberty of which they had deprived him.

The jailer, perceiving that no terms could be made with Jacob but those he had proposed, called in several men to assist in carrying him out, as he was a large, heavy man of 350 pounds. Jacob then started for his home accompanied by his followers, with shouts and songs.

He had a powerful and acute intellect which, if it had been properly trained in youth, would have raised him to eminence.

His large and perfectly symmetrical form, together with a clear, deep-toned voice, gave him great command. He was, in fact, one of nature's noblemen. He died in Warner, N. H., 29 Nov., 1844. His widow died in 1888.

APPENDIX.

A PARTIAL RECORD OF THE MILITARY SERVICE OF MEN BEARING THE NAME OF OSGOOD.

COMPILED BY EBEN PUTNAM.

THE following records of service, by persons bearing the name of Osgood, are taken from the Massachusetts and New Hampshire Revolutionary Rolls; the Rebellion service record is of Massachusetts men only, as the rolls of the other states were not easily accessible.

These records are printed not only as a matter of pride, but as an aid to persons who may desire to join the societies of descendants of revolutionary soldiers and who have not the means of access to the original rolls.

As will be seen by examination, the military record of the family is an honorable one.
